c.	What are the key risks that are specific to the issuer?
	Key regulatory, political and legal risks applicable to Renewable Energy Assets <ul style="list-style-type: none"> A significant proportion of the Company's portfolio of Renewable Energy Assets benefits from government subsidies and incentives. The benefits gained from these government subsidies and incentives may reduce over time as the government subsidies and incentives expire, phase out over time, terminate upon the exhaustion of the allocated government funding, require renewal by the applicable authority or will be challenged by the relevant competition authorities. The government subsidies and incentives may also be amended by governments due to changing market circumstances (such as market price fluctuations or the oversupply of produced electricity), changes to national, state or local public sector fiscal circumstances or changes to national, state or local energy or other policies, including but not limited to the revocation or alteration of the previously agreed subsidy arrangements. Investments in renewable energy depend largely upon government grants and permits or license requirements and environmental legislation. The Company is exposed to the risk that the competent authorities may pass legislation that might hinder or invalidate rights under existing contracts as well as hinder or impair the obtaining of the necessary permits or licenses necessary for Renewable Energy Assets in the construction phase, as well as for operating assets.

Key risks relating to the Group

- The Company makes investments in projects and concessions with revenue exposure to power prices, forecasts of which are used for investment valuation. Future electricity prices, and the forecasts made of them are affected by the balance of electricity supply and demand, the capital costs and efficiency of generating plant and the marginal cost of generators (affected by factors including the price of gas and carbon, and foreign exchange rates). Governments' evolving plans to decarbonise are expected to have a significant impact on future electricity supply and demand. It is anticipated that power price forecasters will incorporate a faster build-out of Renewable Energy Assets, reflecting governments' ambitious plans to decarbonise the energy generation mix, in their updates to electricity price forecasts. It is anticipated that forecasters will expect renewables deployment to be materially faster than the growth in electricity demand, which is likely to depress electricity price forecasts. A decline in the market price of electricity could materially adversely affect the Group's revenues and financial position. There is a risk that actual future electricity prices are substantially lower than the forecasts used by the Company for valuation purposes and that the forecasts of future power prices may change substantially.
- The ability of the Company to achieve its Investment Objective depends to a high degree on the managerial experience of the management teams associated with InfraRed (in its capacity as Investment Manager) and RES (in its capacity as Operations Manager and as asset manager), and more generally on their ability to attract and retain suitable staff.
- The declaration and payment of dividends or distributions by the Company is subject to the discretion of the Directors and will depend upon, amongst other things, the Company successfully pursuing its Investment Policy and the Company's earnings, financial position, cash requirements, level and rate of borrowings and availability of profit, as well as the provisions of relevant laws or generally accepted accounting principles from time to time. In respect of the level of any future dividends or distributions, the Company's dividend policy is to increase the aggregate dividend to the extent it is prudent to do so, giving consideration to items impacting forecast cash flows, expected dividend cover, the levels of inflation across the Company's markets, the outlook for electricity prices and the operational performance of the Portfolio. There can be no assurance that any dividends or distributions will be paid in respect of any financial year or period and no guarantee as to the level of any future dividends or distributions to be paid by the Company.
- Investment valuation and investment decisions are based on financial projections and assumptions for Renewable Energy Assets. Such assumptions may change from time to time. Projections will primarily be based on the Investment Manager's assessment and on macro-economic forecasts (including power price forecasts) provided by industry experts and are only estimates of future cash flows based on assumptions made at the time of the projection. Actual results may vary significantly from the projections and assumptions may not always prove to be correct. This includes those assumptions made by the Investment Manager for operational performance (including energy yields at the pre-construction stage) and forecasts provided by independent industry experts for future power prices. The variance between assumptions and actual cash flows may have a material adverse effect on the Group's financial position, results of operations, business prospects and returns to investors. In addition, there is a risk that errors may be made in the assumptions or methodology used in a financial model, or the way in which multiple financial models are aggregated. In such circumstances the returns generated by the asset or liability status of any Renewable Energy Asset acquired by the Group may be different to those expected.

Key risks relating to the Company's investment strategy

- The Group may incur indebtedness which will be serviced by a first call on cash flows from investments. Whilst the use of leverage may offer the opportunity for enhanced returns to the Group, and thus additional capital growth, it also adds risk to the investment.
- Construction, operation and maintenance of Renewable Energy Assets is likely to result in reliance upon services being delivered by one or more contractors. Failure of a contractor to perform its contracted services and/or change in a contractor's financial circumstances in conjunction with over-reliance on particular contractors may among other things result in the relevant asset either underperforming, incurring additional costs, becoming impaired in value or falling behind its construction schedule and there can be no assurance that such underperformance, impairment or delay will be fully or partially compensated by any contractor warranty or bank guarantee.

Key macro risks

- The Group and its investments are materially affected by conditions in the global financial markets and economic conditions, including, but not limited to, rising interest rates, inflation and deflation, business and consumer confidence, availability of credit, currency exchange rates and controls, trade barriers, commodity prices and tax rates. These factors are outside the Company's control and may affect the valuation of the Group's investments which may have a material adverse effect on the Group's financial position, results of operations, business prospects and returns to investors. There is a risk that corporation or other tax rates may increase as governments seek to finance deficits arising from, amongst other things, the consequences of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Key risks relating to the operations of the Group and Renewable Energy Assets

- Energy yield forecasts are to a large extent based on historical climate data and certain IT based simulations/calculations and assorted assumptions. There is a risk that such forecasts prove inaccurate and, in particular, variations in weather conditions, including extreme events, may lead to fluctuations

	from historically recorded data. Periods of low weather resource could lead to a reduction in the volume of energy which the Group produces. Periods of high weather resource, particularly wind conditions, (as with periods of low electricity demand) could result in grid curtailment or negative electricity pricing. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The Group's revenues are materially dependent upon the quality and performance of the material, equipment and components with which the Renewable Energy Assets are constructed, the comprehensiveness of the operational and management contracts entered into in respect of each Renewable Energy Asset, and the operational performance and lifespan of the Renewable Energy Assets storage system, as applicable. Key risks relating to taxation <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The anticipated taxation treatment of the structure of the Group and its underlying investments is based on prevailing taxation law and accounting practice and standards. Any change in the tax status of any member of the Group or any of its underlying investments or in tax legislation or practice (including in relation to taxation rates and allowances) or in accounting standards could adversely affect the investment return of the Group.

v.	Restrictions on free transferability of the securities There are no restrictions on the free transferability of the Ordinary Shares and/or the C Shares, subject to compliance with applicable securities laws and the Articles.
vi.	Dividend policy The Company will set the dividend target for each financial year at the time of publication of the Company's annual report and accounts for the preceding year. In respect of the dividend, the Board's priority remains to ensure that it is sustainable in the long term. Accordingly, the Company's dividend policy is to increase the aggregate dividend to the extent it is prudent to do so. In setting the dividend, consideration will be given to items impacting forecast cash flows and expected dividend cover, the levels of inflation across the Company's markets, the outlook for electricity prices and the operational performance of the Company's portfolio. The Company pays dividends quarterly as interim dividends payable in June, September, December and March in respect of the 3 month periods ending March, June, September and December respectively. Dividends will only be paid subject to the Company satisfying the solvency test prescribed under the Companies Law. The Company is targeting an aggregate dividend of 6.76 pence per Ordinary Share for the year ending 31 December 2021, which it intends to pay in four interim quarterly dividends of 1.69 pence per Ordinary Share. The dividend target stated above is a target only and not a profit forecast. There can be no assurance that this target will be met, and it should not be taken as an indication of the Company's expected future results. Accordingly, potential investors should not place any reliance on the dividend target in deciding whether or not to invest in the Company and should decide for themselves whether or not the target dividend is reasonable or achievable.

The results of the Initial Placing, the Initial Open Offer, the Initial Offer for Subscription and the Intermediaries Offer will be announced by the Company on or around 24 March 2021, in each case by an RIS announcement. It is expected that Admission of the New Ordinary Shares issued pursuant to the Initial Placing, the Initial Open Offer, the Initial Offer for Subscription and the Intermediaries Offer will become effective and that dealings on the London Stock Exchange in such Ordinary Shares will commence as soon practicable after 26 March 2021. It is expected that Admission of further New Shares issued under the Share Issuance Programme will become effective, and that dealings in such New Shares will commence, during the period from 27 March 2021 to 4 March 2022.
v.	Amount and percentage of immediate dilution resulting from the Initial Issue If 195 million Ordinary Shares were to be issued pursuant to the Initial Issue (being the maximum number of Ordinary Shares that the Directors will be authorised to issue under the Initial Issue) based on the issued share capital at the date of this Prospectus, and assuming that an existing Shareholder did not participate in the Initial Issue, an investor holding 1 per cent. of the Company's issued share capital at the date of this Prospectus would then hold 0.91 per cent. of the Company's issued share capital following Initial Admission. Dilution in connection with Subsequent Issues If an existing Shareholder does not subscribe for New Ordinary Shares and/or C Shares issued in Subsequent Placings under the Share Issuance Programme, such Shareholder's proportionate ownership and voting rights in the Company will be reduced.

The costs and expenses of each Subsequent Issue pursuant to the Share Issuance Programme will depend on subscriptions received but are not expected to exceed 2 per cent of the gross proceeds of such Subsequent Placing. The costs of any issue of Ordinary Shares will be covered by issuing such Ordinary Shares at a premium to the prevailing estimated Net Asset Value per Ordinary Share at the time of the Subsequent Placing. The costs and expenses of any issue of C Shares under the Share Issuance Programme will be paid out of the gross proceeds of such issue and will be borne by holders of C Shares only. Any expenses incurred by a financial intermediary are for its own account. Prospective investors should confirm separately with any financial intermediary whether there are any commissions, fees or expenses that will be applied by such financial intermediary in connection with any application made through that financial intermediary pursuant to the Intermediaries Offer. The terms and conditions of the Intermediaries Offer limit the level of commission that financial intermediaries are able to charge any of their respective clients acquiring Ordinary Shares pursuant to their intermediaries offer.
vii.	Estimated expenses charged to the investor As stated in row a(vi) above, the expenses in connection with the Share Issuance Programme, the Initial Issue or any Subsequent Issue will be deducted from the gross issue proceeds, rather than being charged directly to any investor.
